INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

1. Product description

Apirectal ointment with hyaluronic acid and propolis is a product to be used on the external rectal area and skin surrounding the rectum.

20 g of the ointment contains 30 mg sodium hyaluronate and 400 mg of propolis ethanol extract.

Apirectal ointment forms a protective and moisturizing barrier on the surface of the external area of the rectum and of the skin surrounding the rectum.

2. Ingredients:

Petrolatum, propylene glycol, purified water, glycerol, cetyl alcohol, ethanol propolis extract, sodium hyaluronate.

3. How it works

The main mechanism is based on the properties of hyaluronic acid which has the ability to bind and retain water helping maintain proper hydration of the skin and mucous membranes at the site of application. A protective barrier is formed around the external area of the rectum which protects the skin and mucous membranes from irritation, creating conditions conducive for activating natural regeneration of natural mechanisms. It helps to restore the rectal epithelium to its physiological state.
